A mental health emergency is any situation where an individual is experiencing extreme distress, is at risk of harming themselves or others, or is unable to function due to a crisis.

Common mental health emergencies include:

Panic attacks (e.g., rapid breathing, palpitations, extreme distress).

Dissociation or trauma responses (e.g., unresponsiveness, detachment).

Suicidal ideation (e.g., expressing thoughts of self-harm or suicide).

Self-harm incidents (e.g., visible injuries or active self-harm).

Severe emotional breakdowns (e.g., uncontrollable crying, hyperventilation, aggression).

All club staff and instructors must be able to recognise these situations and respond appropriately.

To ensure a structured and effective response, the following roles and responsibilities apply:

6.1 Handling a Panic Attack

Move the individual to a quiet and private space.

Encourage slow, deep breathing (e.g., 4-7-8 breathing technique).

Use grounding techniques (e.g., 5-4-3-2-1 sensory method).

Reassure them that they are safe and the panic attack will pass.

Allow them to return to activity only when they feel ready.

6.2 Responding to Suicidal Thoughts

Take any mention of suicide seriously.

Listen calmly and without judgment.

Ask directly: "Are you thinking about ending your life?"

Do not leave the individual alone.

Contact the safeguarding officer, emergency contact, or emergency services if the risk is immediate.

6.3 Managing an Emotional Breakdown or Trauma Response

Provide a quiet space for the individual to recover.

Encourage slow, deep breathing to regulate emotions.

Avoid physical contact unless the individual explicitly requests it.

Use calm, supportive language to reassure them.

Offer them an option to leave discreetly if necessary.

6.4 Responding to Self-Harm Incidents

Administer first aid if there is an open wound.

Avoid reacting with shock or anger.

Ask if they are receiving support and provide information on available services.

If injuries are severe or indicate a significant crisis, contact emergency services.
